

Central Carolina Community College's 2018 Annual Security Report

From the Director of Campus Security and Safety:

The following pages contain the 2018 Annual Security Report for Central Carolina Community College. The report includes crime statistics for all our campus locations and facilities as well as Security Policies and Programs as required by the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Crime Statistics Act. The report will provide you with important information about the safety and security of our campus locations and as you review these statistics, you will see that Central Carolina Community College makes every effort to maintain a low crime rate at our facilities. This is due to the collective efforts of the CCCC campus community, our law enforcement partners and the communities in which we are located and serve. Crime prevention, security awareness and risk identification is the responsibility of everyone and communication is a critical component to the overall success of our campus security programs.

I want to thank you for taking the time to read this report and hope that it is informative and helpful. If you have any questions, comments or suggestions, please contact me at 919-718-7211.

The Student Right to Know and Campus Security Act (Public Law 101-542) was signed into law by President Bush in 1990 and went into effect on September 1, 1991. Title II of this act is known as the Crime Awareness and Campus Security Act of 1990. It added crime statistics for the most recent three years, disclosure of the institutions current security policies and required timely warning to be issued by the institution.

The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act was passed in 1998 (20 U.S.C. 1092 (f) and the U.S. Department of Education (ED) issued the final regulations which became effective on July 1, 2000. It required the ED to collect, analyze and report to congress the incidences of crime on college campuses. It also required those institutions who participated in federal student aid programs to disclose to students, faculty, staff, and, upon request, prospective students information regarding the incidence of crimes on campus as part of the campus security report. Institutions that have a campus police or security department are required to maintain a daily crime log that is available to the public. On March 7, 2013 the Violence Against Women Reauthorization Act of 2013 (VAWA) (Pub. Law 113-4) was signed by the President and amended section 485(f) of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

The Campus Security Act requires colleges and universities to:

- Publish an Annual Security Report every year by October 1st containing the previous three years of campus crime statistics and certain campus security policy statements:
- Disclose crime statistics for the campus(s), public areas immediately adjacent to or running through the campus and certain non-campus facilities and remote classrooms. Statistics must be gathered from campus police/security, local law enforcement and other “institutional officials who have significant responsibility for student and campus activities;”
- Provide “timely warning” notices of crimes that have occurred and pose an “ongoing threat students and employees;”
- Disclose in a public crime log of any crime that has occurred on campus and is reported to the campus police/security department.

The Director of Campus Security and Safety is responsible for preparing and distributing this annual report with the assistance and cooperation of senior leaders of this institution. The administration, faculty and staff at CCCC are committed to providing an environment that encourages learning and educational pursuits. Campus Security is charged with maintaining a safe and secure environment for the campus community. This cannot be done by campus officials alone, everyone must share the responsibility and work together to maintain a safe learning environment. Your cooperation in reporting suspicious and criminal activities will enhance these efforts.

Annual Fire Safety Report and Missing Student Policy

Central Carolina Community College is a nonresidential institution of higher education and has no residential accommodations for students. The college is not required by the Campus Safety and Security Reporting Act to maintain a Fire Log or to have a Missing Student Policy due to not having on-campus student housing facilities.

Campus Security

CCCC utilizes a combination of contract security personnel and off-duty Law Enforcement Officers (LEO's) at its campus in Sanford. Other campuses and locations in Chatham, Harnett and Lee Counties use CCCC Campus Security personnel and contract security officers.

Contract security personnel are licensed by the North Carolina Private Protective Services Bureau and must successfully complete the required training approved and mandated by the NC Private Protective Services Bureau. They also receive training through their licensed employers as well as site specific training at their assigned locations. Security personnel will contact local law enforcement authorities for incidents that require the powers of arrest and/or further criminal investigation.

Law Enforcement Officers working at the Sanford Main campus are sworn officers and have the authority to enforce all local, state and federal laws.

Campus Security patrols their assigned locations by foot and vehicle patrols and keeps in communication with each other and site personnel through portable radios and cell phones. They respond to medical emergencies, traffic accidents, criminal activity and other incidents requiring emergency response or assistance.

CCCC works closely with local, county, state, federal law enforcement and other emergency responders. Absent of memoranda's of understanding, we count on these agencies to provide a wide range support services and criminal investigative expertise.

Security Awareness and Crime Prevention is addressed College Personnel Orientation as well as published in the Student Planner and Handbook distributed to students and faculty each academic year.

Anyone experiencing sexual or gender-based harassment in any college program is encouraged to report it immediately to the Title IX coordinator.

While in some cases individuals may make sexual comments or jokes or personal advances without intending harm, such actions can be unwanted, threatening, and perceived as harassment. - Is consistent with the institution's policies and transparent to the accuser and accused;
- Includes timely notice of meetings at which the reporting party or responding party, or both, may be present; and
- Provides timely and equal access to the reporting party, the responding party, and appropriate officials to any information that will be used during informal and formal disciplinary meetings and hearings; and
- Conducted by officials who do not have a conflict of interest or bias for or against the reporting party or the responding party.

Proceedings: All activities related to a non-criminal resolution of an institutional disciplinary complaint, including but not limited to, fact finding investigations, formal or informal meetings, and hearings. Proceeding does not include communications and meetings between officials and victims concerning accommodations or protective measures to be provided to a victim.

Result: Any initial, interim, and final decision by any official or entity authorized to resolve disciplinary matters within the institution. The result must include any sanctions imposed by the institution.

Reporting and Confidentiality

All college employees have a duty to report Title IX violations immediately to the Title IX coordinator, unless their position requires them to maintain confidentiality except in extreme cases of immediate threat or danger, or abuse of a minor. Examples of those who may be required to maintain confidentiality include licensed professional counselors, clergy working within the scope of their licensure or ordination, or licensed medical professionals. The reporting party will be notified when information cannot be kept confidential.

If the reporting party requests confidentiality and decides not to file charges in a Title IX violations case, an anonymous report of the incident must be made in order to comply with the Clery Act (campus crime reporting).

Investigation and Resolution of Claims

All claims shall receive a prompt, fair, and impartial investigation and resolution. Investigations shall be conducted by officials who receive training on issues related to the aforementioned Crimes and on how to conduct an investigation and hearing process that protects the safety of victims and promotes accountability. The reporting party and the responding party are entitled to a fair and equitable process, and both shall be simultaneously informed, in writing, of:

- Specific finding for each violation and each responding party involved in the proceeding;
- Sanctions resulting from the outcome of the proceeding;
- CCCC's procedures for appeal of the results

Sanctions

Sanctions may be imposed upon any member of the college community found to have violated the Title IX: Sexual Violence, Sexual or Gender-based Harassment, and Other Sexual Misconduct policy. Sanctions for sexual misconduct can range from probation to expulsion/termination, or other appropriate sanction based on the severity of the incident. This policy applies to both students and employees.

Protection against Retaliation

Retaliation is defined as any materially adverse action that might well have dissuaded a reasonable person from making or supporting a complaint of Title IX violations. A complaint's actual or perceived lack of merit does not excuse retaliatory conduct. Retaliation against any individual for reporting Title IX violations or against one who participates in an investigation will not be tolerated. In responding to reports of retaliation, the college will conduct a prompt, thorough and impartial investigation and will take appropriate remedial measures.

False Accusation

CCCC recognizes that the question of whether a particular course of conduct constitutes Title IX violations requires a factual determination. The college also recognizes that false accusations can have serious effects on innocent persons. If, after investigation, it is clear that the reporting party who has accused another of Title IX violations maliciously or recklessly made a false accusation, the reporting party will be subject to appropriate disciplinary action, up to and including expulsion.

Procedure

This section applies to Title IX violations allegations. All other forms of harassment and/or discrimination are handled through the Student Code of Conduct.

All employees are considered responsible employees, which means that all employees have a duty to report Title IX violations, including, but not limited to, sexual or gender-based harassment, rape, sexual assault, other forcible and non-forcible sex offenses, domestic or dating violence, or stalking, or any offense of this nature.

Students, faculty, and staff are strongly encouraged to report Title IX violations in any of its forms to the Title IX coordinator or Campus Security Office.

Sexual Assault

Anyone who believes they have been victims of Title IX violations that involve any type of sexual assault should do the following as soon as possible in order to ensure the preservation of evidence:

- Go to a safe place.
- Do not shower or bathe.
- Do not urinate, if possible.
- Do not eat, drink, smoke, or brush your teeth if oral contact took place.
- Do not destroy or wash the clothes you were wearing. If you change, place your clothes in a paper bag.
- Contact the Campus Security Office, law enforcement, and/or the Title IX coordinator. The filing of a report does not obligate the reporting party to pursue charges, but does make filing of charges easier at a later date.
- Seek medical treatment immediately (preferably within 72hours).

Guidelines for Faculty/Staff

College employees will observe the following guidelines when responding to a report of Title IX violations from students or other faculty/staff members:

- Be sure to tell the reporting party that you are considered a responsible employee before talking with them about the incident so that they understand your role in regards to confidentiality. If the reporting party wishes to maintain confidentiality, refer them to outside area resources.
- Encourage the person to seek medical assistance as soon as possible, if needed.
- Actively listen, provide nonjudgmental support, and do not ask questions that suggest blame or doubt.
- Do not question the reporting party about the details of the incident; other trained personnel will do this.
- Encourage the person to speak to the Title IX coordinator or Campus Security Office, and to make a report to law enforcement.

Reporting Title IX Violations

Report any possible Title IX violations to the Title IX coordinator or deputy Title IX coordinator for faculty and staff. The Title IX coordinator and deputy Title IX coordinator (faculty and staff) are designated by the CCCC president as follows:

- Title IX coordinator: dean of student support services
- Deputy Title IX coordinator (faculty and staff): director of human resources.

If the reporting party does not wish to pursue action with the college, the reporting party may make an anonymous report on the details of the incident without revealing the reporting party's identity.

Filing a Complaint

1. Complaint: When making a complaint of Title IX violations, the reporting party should be prepared to provide the following information:

- Name of the student, faculty, or staff who is (was) being victimized;
- The name of the person(s) committing the Title IX violations;
- The specific nature of the Title IX violations;
- Whether the reporting party has previously reported such Title IX violations, and if so, when and to whom.

2. Charges/Notification: The Title IX coordinator will notify the responding party of the charge(s) via email, certified mail, or in person. The reporting party will be provided with copies of all notices sent to the responding party and the responding party will be provided with copies of all notices sent to the reporting party. Notification will include the following:

- Name of the student(s) being charged (responding party);
- The alleged specific Title IX violations occurrence;
- The time, place, and date of the occurrence;
- The nature of the investigation to be performed.

3. Investigation/Decision

- If the Title IX coordinator believes that the reported violation(s) occurred, the case will be assigned to a trained CCCC investigator and a full investigation of the allegations will take place.
- The Title IX coordinator will put actions in place that will:
 - end the Title IX violations
 - prevent recurrence
 - provide remedies to the victim.

Interim Remedies/Actions

The Title IX coordinator may provide interim remedies intended to address the violation in the short term in order to prevent further violations. Remedies will be based on the individual case, but may include altering work or class schedules or locations, providing campus escorts, referral to outside resources as appropriate, and adjustments to work or academic deadlines or delivery modes.

Standards for Investigation

The following “standards for investigation” shall be followed in regards to allegations of Title IX violations.

- The complaint will be decided using a preponderance of evidence standard, i.e., it is more likely not, that Title IX violation occurred.
- The reporting party and the responding party will be entitled to the same opportunities throughout the process, and will be notified in writing of the outcome of the complaint simultaneously.
- Every effort will be made to resolve the complaint in no more than 60 days. This timeline may be adjusted due to factors beyond the control of the college or at the mutual consent of the reporting party and the responding party.

Investigation Procedures

The college’s complaint procedure provides for an immediate, thorough and objective investigation of the sexual misconduct/violence. The assigned investigator(s) may use the following procedures during the course of the investigation process:

- Interviewing the reporting party: The reporting party might be interviewed once or more than once depending on the need to ask follow-up questions after collecting additional evidence.
- Interviewing the responding party (parties) who is (are) perceived to have committed the alleged Title IX violations once or more than once depending on the need to ask follow-up questions after collecting additional evidence.
- Interviewing witnesses identified by either the reporting or responding party.
- Collecting and reviewing evidence which might corroborate either the reporting or responding party’s recollection of the incident. This might include, but is not limited to, written statements, text messages, emails, social media posts, phone records, letters, voicemails, pictures, medical records, court records, 911 calls, and off-campus law enforcement records.
- Consulting other college officials.
- Other appropriate methods to facilitate making an informed decision about the complaint.

All actions taken to investigate and resolve complaints through this process will be conducted in a matter that preserves confidentiality to the greatest extent possible under the circumstances, without compromising the thoroughness of the investigation. The investigation will be completed and the finding will be presented to the Title IX coordinator. The Title IX coordinator will review the investigation findings and determine if there is reasonable cause to continue the case. If there is reasonable cause to continue the case, the investigation findings will be turned over to the Judicial Board for hearing.

If at any point during the investigation it is determined that there is no reasonable cause to believe that the CCCC Title IX policy has been violated, the Title IX coordinator has the authority to terminate the investigation and end the resolution proceedings.

If the responding party is found not responsible for the alleged violation(s), the investigation will be closed. If the responding party is found responsible for the alleged violation(s), the Judicial Board will impose appropriate sanctions for the violation in consultation with the Title IX coordinator and the deputy Title IX coordinator.

The faculty and staff members of the CCCC Judicial Board will act as the hearing committee for Title IX cases. Any members of the board who have any previous involvement with the investigation or the parties involved will be excused. The vice president of student services, Title IX coordinator, and the deputy Title IX coordinator as appropriate, and case investigators shall be in attendance to provide information about the evidence from the investigation.

The CCCC Judicial Board Chair shall schedule a hearing following the written notification to the reporting party and the responding party. The hearing shall be confidential and shall be closed to all persons except the following:

- The reporting party and the responding party, who shall be interviewed separately;
- Counsel (if any); and/or
- Witnesses who shall:
 - Give testimony singularly and in the absence of other witnesses.
 - Leave the hearing immediately upon the completion of the testimony.

The hearing will be recorded by the college in an audio format. Recordings will become the property of the college, and access to them will be determined by the committee chair. All recordings will be monitored by the CCCC Judicial Board Chair housed in the CCCC Business Office vault.

Upon completion of a Title IX hearing, the Judicial Board shall meet in executive session to make a finding based on the preponderance of the evidence. Committee decisions shall be determined by a majority vote of the committee members. The outcome of the hearing will be sent to the reporting party and the responding party simultaneously within two business days after the hearing.

Appeals

Either party has the right to appeal the final decision if there is new/additional evidence not presented in the first hearing or if a substantive or procedural right was not followed. All appeals must be filed in writing to the vice president of student services within five business days of receiving the written notification. The vice president of student services will either uphold or put aside the decision of the Judicial Board. The appeal decision of the Vice President of Student Services are final.

Preserving and Collecting Forensic Evidence

In the immediate aftermath of a sexual assault, the most important thing is for the victim to get to a safe place. Whether it is the victim's home, a friend's home or with a family member, immediate safety is what matters most. When a feeling of safety has been achieved, it is vital for the victim to receive medical attention, and it is strongly recommended that the victim to receive a forensic examination. A forensic medical exam may be performed at a hospital or other healthcare facility, by a sexual assault nurse examiner (SANE), sexual assault forensic examiner (SAFE) or another medical professional.

Preserving DNA evidence can be the key to identifying the perpetrator in a sexual assault case, especially those in which the offender is a stranger. DNA evidence is an integral part of a law enforcement investigation that can build a strong case to show that a sexual assault occurred and to show that the defendant is the source of biological material left on the victim's body.

Accommodations and Protective Measures

CCCC will provide schedule and class changes including online courses (where applicable) as accommodations and protective measures for victims of Sexual Assault, Dating & Domestic Violence and Stalking. Security Escorts can also be provided while the victim is on campus.

Sexual Harassment Policy

Central Carolina Community College is committed to providing and promoting an atmosphere in which individuals may realize their maximum potential in the workplace and/or the classroom. Sexual harassment is a violation of both state and federal law and will not be tolerated. Sexual harassment is defined as requests for sexual favors, deliberate, unsolicited, unwelcome verbal and/or physical sexual attention by anyone associated with the college, whether male or female.

Sexual harassment includes, but is not limited to: obscene jokes, lewd comments, sexual depictions, repeated requests for dates, touching, staring, or other sexual conduct committed either on or off the college premises. This definition does not include personal compliments welcomed by the recipient or relationships which are freely entered into by both parties.

Victims of sexual harassment have a right to sue both the school and the perpetrator by contacting the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission or a state agency. For this reason and for the protection of all our employees and students, Central Carolina Community College seeks to prevent sexual harassment.

All Central Carolina Community College employees and students are responsible for helping ensure that our workplace is kept free of sexual harassment.

As an employee, if you feel you have been a victim of sexual harassment, immediately report the behavior to Human Resources (Science Building, Lee Main Campus 919-718-7493) or to any supervisor, department head, or vice president.

As a student, if you feel you have been a victim of sexual harassment, immediately report the behavior to a counselor or you may initiate a formal complaint to the vice president of student services.

If you have witnessed sexual harassment or if you have received a report of sexual harassment, you are also urged to report the incident to the appropriate authority so that prompt action may be taken.

All complaints will be treated seriously, kept as confidential as possible, and investigated fully. Central Carolina Community College expressly forbids any retaliation against employees or students for reporting sexual harassment. If, however, the college finds that false charges have been filed, disciplinary action may be taken against anyone who provides false information.

If an investigator confirms that sexual harassment occurred, immediate action will be taken to put an end to the harassment. Central Carolina Community College will take appropriate corrective actions against anyone found to be in violation of this policy, including possible termination of employment.

Campus Sex Crimes Prevention Act

The federal Campus Sex Crimes Prevention act was enacted in October of 2000 and went into effect on October 2002. The law provides for the tracking of convicted sex offenders enrolled at, employed at, institutions of higher education. It also requires the institution to provide the community how to access this information

In North Carolina, the North Carolina General Assembly created North Carolinas first sex offender registration law in January of 1999. In 2008, the legislature passed three new laws including the Jessica Lunsford Act. These laws made many changes to including banning certain sex offenders from premises regularly used by children including schools, children's museums, child care centers, nurseries, playgrounds, etc.
